WEST SIDE HIT BY BOMB BLAST; FOURTH IN YEAR

Joe Lubica Residence on Senate Street Is Target of Attack.

DAMAGE IS SMALL

Blast Breaks Windows and Tears Hole in Wall.

A bomb, the fourth to be exploded in the West Side in the last year, broke all of the windows on the north side of the house and tore a hole in the foundation wall at the home of Joe Lubica at 219 Senate street shortly after 3 a. m. today. The explosion shook the West Side and was heard in nearly all parts of the city.

The Lubica family, including four small children, was sleeping on the first floor of the house. The room under which the bomb had been placed was occupied by a boarder whose name was not learned by police. Neither the boarder or any members of the family were injured by the explosion.

The bomb, believed by the police to have been made from a tin can filled with black powder, was placed against the foundation wall on the north side of the house. The explosion, in addition to tearing a hole in the foundation wall and breaking all of the windows on the north side, broke the windows on the south side of a vacant house next door.

Particles of the tin can were found embedded in the siding of the house next door. Lubica, who conducts a shoe repair shop, was unable to give the police any clue as to the identity of the bombers. He said he knew of no one who would make a deliberate attempt to blow up his residence. Although without any definite clue, police today were continuing their investigation in an effort to learn the motive for the bombing.

Houses with No Tax
Dippy D's $200
12 Cents to $200,000
Devil Fish, Wild Cats, Etc.

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 24 ... citizens of Florida, ... Carl Fisher and Edward ... president of the Miami ... bank, advocate a ... real estate taxation that ... every region.

... would exempt from all taxation the house in which a man ... to a certain value on ... land, suggesting, reasonably, that a man should have ... on earth a place that ... belongs to him and his children ... as they last, once he ... for it.

The suggestion, if carried out, would bring millions to live in Florida. It presents a pleasant contrast from other plans that would compel every American to spend his life pursued by tax gatherers with no hope this side of the ... embalming department.

• • •

IN FLORIDA, men take business as it is, philosophically, cheerfully. When you have survived a real estate boom, created 99 per cent by men from outside the state, the explosion of that boom, a big hurricane and the Mediterranean fly, little things do not excite you.

Some true stories of the land boom days should be preserved for instruction and warning. A concern decided recently to sell two Miami lots, in the nearby business section, at present reasonable prices, for fifteen hundred dollars above a mortgage of one thousand. Records showed that the lots had been sold during the boom for four thousand three hundred, twenty thousand, fifty thousand, and the last sale on which the buyer paid down twenty thousand cash was for ninety thousand dollars.

• • •

ANOTHER STORY, by Mr. Romfh. A man whom he knew slightly, later known as "Dippy D," came to the bank saying, 'I suppose you wouldn't lend me one hundred dollars to see if I can get started?' Mr. Romfh said he would not. 'I suppose you wouldn't make that two hundred dollars, so that I can bring my wife down from Jacksonville?' Mr. Romfh said he would make it two hundred dollars.

Well, that two hundred dollars "Dippy D" performed wonders in the boom. He "ran himself up to millions of dollars worth of transactions." During the course of which he got rid of his original wife and acquired a new, younger one. Eventually he jumped from a steamer in mid-ocean, thus cancelling all mortgages.

• • •

ON THE OTHER HAND, as A. ... Lawyer of Chicago remarked to ... in his fine house at the edge of ... ocean, "while prices are not what they were, there are improvements.

For instance, before Carl Fisher and ... developed this Miami beach front, not so long ago, you could buy land along here, including this land on which my house and that of John Hertz next door stand, for twelve cents an acre. You can't buy it now for one hundred thousand dollars an acre, and you never will be able to buy it as cheaply as one hundred thousand dollars an acre."

GRAND JURY TO GET M'CLUNG CASE

Sales Tax Decision Due Today

AT CRISIS ON REVENUE BILL

Backers and Opponents of Measure Fight Hard to Finish.

AMENDMENTS UP FIRST

Principal Vote To Be on Proposal To Kill Entire Sales Tax Section.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 24—The Crisp amendment to the revenue bill exempting from the sales tax food, clothing, medicine, farm implements, insecticides and malt syrup used in making bread was approved today by the house.

• • •

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 24—The crisis of the raging controversy over new taxation was imminent as the house reassembled today to vote on the general sales tax proposal of the billion dollar revenue bill.

The house today excluded from the proposed sales tax materials going into the construction of ships for which the government loans the money—as it drove toward a decisive vote on the controverted issue. It also adopted an amendment to exempt electric power used in agricultural production.

Several other amendments remained to be disposed of before the house acted upon a motion to strike the sales levies entirely out of the bill.

One of these was a proposal by acting Chairman Crisp of the ways and means committee to exempt medicines, clothing, farm implements and insecticides from sales taxation.

This exemption also was broadened to apply to malt syrup for bread making and malted milks.

Large Crowd Present

The house chamber was almost filled as the proceedings got under way. Galleries were crowded with many women present. An unsuccessful effort was made by Representative LaGuardia, Republican of New York, a leader of the sales tax opponents, to gain an immediate vote on the sales tax without considering other amendments. It was opposed by Representative Snell of New York, the Republican leader.

It then accepted the amendment by Representative Lehlbach, Republican of New Jersey, to exempt from the sales levy, all materials going into merchant marine ships built with federal loans.

The onrush of the rebellious factions, which four times have bowled over the bi-partisan leadership since work on the bill began was unslackened. The faithful who have stuck by the bill faced the issue with stubborn determination, hoping that in the maneuvers preceding the decision they would swing into line a number of the border-line objectors.

The principal vote turned upon the amendment by Representative Doughton of North Carolina, leader of the Democratic insurgent wing, to strike out the entire sales tax section of the bill. Anti-sales tax leaders were without hesitation in predicting victory.

LIQUOR CASE RULING ASKED

Court of Appeals Sends Marion Action to State Supreme Tribunal.

The state supreme court was asked today to decide if possession of liquor in a bonafide residence constitutes violation of state dry laws in a case growing out of a decision returned by the Marion municipal court, Associated Press dispatches from Columbus said.

The Third district court of appeals certified to the higher tribunal the case of Frank Nicolosi of Marion, who was convicted of possessing one and a half pints of liquor in his residence here.

When the case came before the municipal court, Nicolosi's attorneys contended that it was not a violation of the state dry laws because the liquor was in a bonafide residence.

In fining Nicolosi $300 and costs, Judge William R. Martin held that the only liquor that could be legally possessed in a bonafide residence was that obtained through a physician's prescription or that which was possessed before the Crabbe act became effective.

The case was carried into the Marion county common pleas court and the Third district court of appeals, and both courts affirmed the decision of the municipal court.

In certifying the case to the supreme court, the appellate court said the action was taken because the decision on the Nicolosi case was in direct conflict with a decision of the Eighth district appellate court at Cleveland. The latter court held that possession of liquor in a bonafide residence was not a violation of the Crabbe act.

Donations Will Be Made in Boxes To Be Placed in Grocery Stores.

The Marion County Federation of Women's clubs have asked the cooperation of Marion grocery stores in a campaign to obtain food for the needy of the city, it was announced today by Mrs. Harold K. Mouser, president of the organization.

The campaign will begin April 9. According to plans large boxes will be placed in each grocery store in which contributions may be placed. Members of federated clubs will be in charge. The boxes will remain in the stores as long as it is deemed necessary. The campaign is expected to continue for a week.

Mrs. Mouser has named Mrs. John T. McNamara, Mrs. Frank M. Knapp and Mrs. Walter E. Miley to serve as a committee in charge of the project. Foodstuffs collected during the campaign will be turned over to the Family Welfare society for distribution.

STRIKE AREA REMAINS QUIET

Martial Law Threat Passes for Present in Southern Ohio Field.

NO DISORDERS REPORTED

Hostilities Not Expected Unless Companies Attempt To Reopen Mines.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 24—State officials have decided against immediate use of troops in handling the situation arising from recent disorders in the Hocking Valley and Sunday Creek mine strike zone.

While Governor George White has issued an ultimatum to the strikers that violence will be put down by force of arms if necessary, Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson reported yesterday that he saw no reason for calling out the national guard at this time.

The adjutant general's report was made after he returned from an airplane trip to the district where some 7,000 coal miners are on strike because of a uniform wage scale put into effect by the operators.

Situation the Same

Henderson said "the situation remains about the same" with no serious disorders expected unless an effort is made to reopen the mines. He added that the operators had promised to advise him before attempting to resume operations.

Besides watching developments in the Hocking Valley and Sunday Creek fields, the adjutant general's office was keeping in touch with the eastern Ohio district where more than 1,000 miners walked out when the operators announced a wage cut. The affected mines were the Dillonvale No. 1, and the Piney Forks Nos. 1 and 2, and a pit near Bergholz.

The strike was termed "a death blow to the industry in eastern Ohio" by R. L. Ireland, vice president of the Hanna Coal company, who said the United Mine workers, fostering the strike, were using the dispute as a weapon in efforts to reorganize the union.

To Dismantle Mines

Ireland and other Hanna officials said the Dillonvale and Piney Fork mines would be dismantled.

The seriousness of the situation in the Hocking Valley field was reflected in Henderson's announcement that radio sending and receiving sets would be installed in his office here and the headquarters of General Connelly at Nelsonville. His arrangement—the first of its kind in the state's history—will enable the adjutant general to keep in constant touch with developments.

BODY OF DELAWARE MAN FOUND IN RIVER

Former Secretary to Eighth District Congressman Takes Own Life.

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., March 24—The body of Burton T. Benton, Delaware attorney, was recovered from the Olentangy river about two miles north of here at 1 p. m. today. He had committed suicide.

Benton was formerly prosecuting attorney and clerk of courts of Delaware county and was secretary to Congressman Cole of Findlay when the latter was in the house of representatives from the Eighth district.

Benton was not seen after early this morning when he left his home to go to a farm north of here for milk. This early morning trip was a usual custom. This morning he took a .22 calibre revolver with him. When he did not return the family became alarmed and a search was started.

The milk pail and Benton's hat were found along the river bank about two miles north of the city. City firemen, police and a score of citizens traced Benton's tracks to the river edge. The body was recovered after the stream had been dragged.

It is thought that Benton waded into the stream and then shot himself as a bullet hole was found in his chest in the region of the heart.

Rumania Gives Princess Helen Royal Welcome

By The Associated Press

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 24—A distinctly friendly welcome to Rumania was extended to the former queen—Princess Helen, who arrived today to visit her son, Prince Michael.

Twenty-four soldiers of King Carol's bodyguard met the former wife of their monarch at the border and gave her the royal salute when the private train came to a stop.

The young heir to Carol's throne stepped up and presented his mother with a bouquet of roses, and the dowager Marie's lady-in-waiting was on hand. The chief of police of Bucharest was in the party.

On arrival at her palace, Princess Helen's personal standard was unfurled.

The greeting was in contrast to Princess Helen's last visit to the capital, when there were tears and silence at her leave-taking. Not a soldier lifted his hand in salute.

King Carol and Helen were divorced in 1928, and since the king returned to the throne in 1930, the former queen agreed to leave the country and return occasionally for visits with her son.

OPENS MOVEMENT TO GUARD HOME OWNERS

Ohio Federation of Labor Seeks To Protect Ohioans Hit by Depression.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 24—A movement to "save the homes" through governmental action was launched today by Thomas J. Donnelly, secretary of the Ohio Federation of Labor, in a letter addressed to Governor George White, Lieutenant Governor William G. Pickrel and members of the Ohio legislature.

The movement was instituted by Donnelly in behalf of home owners who, by reason of the depression have been thrown out of work or their salaries reduced resulting in numerous foreclosures of mortgages.

Donnelly suggests that in some manner a moratorium be worked out by banks, insurance and building and loan companies holding these mortgages until economic conditions improve and owners of homes will again be able to meet their payments, or that organizations of public bodies of responsible persons in various counties be formed to loan money and extend credit to the home owners who are financially embarrassed.

Lindbergh Case Sleuths Unable To Find Trace of Fleischer and Wagner.

By The Associated Press

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 24—Police investigating the kidnaping of the baby son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh concentrated their efforts today in a search for two "known kidnapers" who have disappeared since the child was stolen.

The pair are Harry Fleischer, Detroit "purple" gangster, and Able Wagner, an alleged associate. Raids in New York City and Long Island failed to trap them but the hunt has only been intensified by their elusiveness.

"Able Wagner, recorded as a known kidnaper, was alleged to have been seen around central parts of New Jersey shortly before the kidnaping," Superintendent of State Police H. Norman Schwarzkopf said in today's official bulletin on the case.

"Since the kidnaping he has not been seen or accounted for in any

BANK ROBBERY SUSPECT HELD

Alleged Member of Richwood Holdup Gang in Jail at Marysville.

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, March 24 Joe Potts, 34, formerly of near Ridgeway, arrested Saturday in Effington, Ill., is being held in county jail here for arraignment Friday as one of the participants in the $10,000 robbery of the Farmers Deposit bank in Richwood last October.

Potts is under indictment of the Union county January term grand jury for alleged participation in the robbery. He is said to be a member of the Frank Circone gang, several members of which are now serving prison terms for bank robberies and other crimes in central and northern Ohio

Potts was arrested in Effington at the request of Union county officials and brought here to face the bank robbery charge. Authorities say he had been in the Illinois town since December and had been operating a filling station there.

Potts is the sixth suspected member of the gang which engineered the daylight holdups of the Richwood bank.

Other suspected members of the gang are Frank Circone, 20, of Columbus, alleged leader of the gang who broke out of the Union county jail last Nov. 13 while held as a suspect in the robbery and who subsequently was recaptured in Columbus, Daniel Fallen, 27, of Columbus, Robert Hathway, 30, of Philadelphia, Pa., both whom were arrested in a raid on a small arsenal in a Canton, O., residence, Alfred Papp, 20, arrested in Cleveland, and William Cunningham, alias Fred W. TO HAVE LAND go from fifteen hundred to ninety thousand dollars and then drop to thirty-five hundred dollars does seem discouraging. On the other hand, to have land go from twelve cents an acre to two hundred thousand dollars an acre and stay there, is not discouraging

One young man from Dr Mather Abbot's Lawrenceville school, here for the Easter vacation, hoped that he might catch a sailfish. The first day with the renowned Capt. fare to curl up and roll away at the first breeze of an idea, some erudite persons to the contrary nothwithstanding. It began casting about today for the kind of lyrics that would definitely launch America down the way of happiness.

Prosperity lyrics suddenly were thicker than Mississippi mud. A tune tinker who had been at work on a "wow" titled "With You, Dear Elaine, in Spain in the Rain," tore it up and began humming madly.

"Ziv've got it!" he exulted Then he sang:

"Do not say you can't afford it,
Spend your dough, old pal, don't hoard it"

"That's terrible, "kibitzed a companion in chromatic crime.

"Listen to this

"Oh, it's just around the corner, bay-bee
Prosperity, and I ain't meanin' may-bee."

"That's great," shouting another juggernaut of jazz, "and then you could go on with

"From Maine to Alabamy
Every uncle, aunt and mammy,
Every trade, ev'ry profession
Hollers, 'down with the depression!"

All Inspired

Thus it went. The idea was at work in Tin Pan alley, biting this songwriter and that. About all they needed were four more lines, and then a smash finale to give the tenors a chance to show their gold teeth on a high note These were quickly provided by a new comer who, catching the idea, contributed

'Oh, say can you see
Anything that's bothering me?
I'm so happy I could sing
Whoops my dear or anything"

Whereupon all the others, struck by the same amazing inspiration for a last climatic line, shouted in unison

"Here comes pros-per-i-tee!"

AIR DEBUT DELAYS J. P. MORGAN DINNER

NEW YORK, March 24—J. P. Morgan delayed his dinner last night to make his first radio speech. It was an appeal for support for the "block aid" drive to collect funds in a canvass of city blocks here.

He pointed out that the canvassers will discover needy cases on their rounds, leading to prompt aid.

"Many people are too proud and too brave," he said, "to reveal their necessities to charitable organizations or to state and city relief agencies. These people suffer in silence, often they suffer until parents and children are seriously ill"

Mr. Morgan, clad in a dinner jacket, spoke from the study of his brownstone house. He didn't suffer from "microphone fright."

SEARCH CENTERS ON 2 KNOWN KIDNAPERS

Lindbergh Case Sleuths Unable To Find Trace of Fleischer and Wagner.

way. It is desired to find Abie Wagner for the purpose of questioning him and having him account for his activities just prior to and at the time of the kidnaping.

"Investigations covering the whole state of New Jersey, New York state, Long Island, Philadelphia and various parts of Pennsylvania have not as yet disclosed his whereabouts.

"Harry Fleischer also a known kidnaper and involved in the Price kidnaping in Connecticut, has been unaccounted for since the kidnaping. An unsubstantiated report associates Abie Wagner with Harry Fleischer. Every effort is being made to locate Harry Fleischer so he may be questioned concerning his whereabouts prior to and at the time of the kidnaping"

Unprecedented expense involved in trying to find kidnaped Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., amounting in its nationwide phase to probably hundreds of thousands of dollars, has hit the law enforcement facilities of New Jersey particularly hard

So hard, in fact, that Col H. Norman Schwarzkopf, state police head, told the budget commission his department's funds have been "sadly depleted." The police expenditures started leaping upward the moment Col. Lindbergh phoned for aid after he found the child's crib empty March 1. Now Col Schwarzkopf is curtailing costs An emergency appropriation may be asked.

Everywhere authorities continued to run aganist blank walls On a tip a man in Brooklyn knew something, detectives sped there They found Thomas La Salle, a cripple, who is taking a detective course by mail He explained he merely had written Col. Schwarzkopf and others suggesting what they should do.

The ladder used by the kidnapers was brought here again from Trenton. Police explained they wanted to compare it with wood found on an old farm about four miles from the Lindbergh estate.

Think Two Kidnap Cases Linked

By The Associated Press

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., March 24—Kansas City detectives, seeking Martin Depew in connection with the kidnaping of Mrs Nell Donnelly in Kansas City last December, said today they had information which indicated connection between the Donnelly case and the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby.

Detectives Robert Cole and Joseph Brennan have been working in Pennsylvania for several months, tracing all clues regarding Depew, whose wife is detained at Kansas City after being arrested here.

"We have information that will be more than a blind lead," Brennan said, "but it may be a couple of days before we get to Trenton with it"

ARMIES "DIG IN" AS PEACE MOVES GO ON

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, March 24—Chinese and Japanese armies went methodically about the business of grooming their trappings of war outside Shanghai today as formal peace negotiations finally got under way in the international settlement.

The first session was very brief. When delegates filed out of the British consulate both Chinese and Japanese were gloomy, but neutral observers were hopeful.

There was evidence that the negotiators were up against a stiff problem. Specifically they were trying to arrange a formal armistice providing for withdrawal of Japanese troops into international settlement, and establishment of a neutral zone.

Resting Comfortably—Mrs. William Pitts of 616 north Prospect street was reported to be resting comfortably today at City hospital following an abdominal operation yesterday afternoon.

CONCERT CLUB WILL GIVE SPRING CANTATA

May 2 Is Date Set for Annual Program at Edison Junior High.

The Marion Concert association will give its annual spring program Moday night, May 2, at the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school. Announcement came following a meeting of the executive committee last night with the president, Mrs. H. K. Mouser of south Prospect street.

The association will present a cantata, "The Sage of Mount Vernon," in observance of National Music week and at the same time in keeping with the George Washington bicentennial celebration. The cantata was written by R Deane Shure.

Members of the committee expressed the feeling that the general spirit of appreciation given the Marion Concert association by the citizens of Marion in the recent eisteddfod was so great that as a means of expressing this appreciation it would be fitting to present to the music lovers of Marion a concert at which no admission charges will be made.

T R. Evans, supervisor of music in the public schools and director of the Marion Lecture-Recital club chorus, will direct the cantata.

Scores Sweeping Victory Over Advocate of Garner Candidacy.

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA, Ga., March 24—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt won Georgia's 28 convention votes in yesterday's Democratic presidential preference primary by overwhelming Judge G H. Howard of Atlanta, who advocated the candidacy of Speaker John Garner.

The New York executive had a popular plurality of approximately ten to one on the latest tabulation and 398 of the possible 410 county unit votes had been placed in his column with five counties missing. Judge Howard was leading in only one county and stood in a fair way to lose it before the final returns are counted Latest returns gave Roosevelt 51,071 popular votes to Howard's 5,717.

Georgia was the first southern state to hold a preference primary.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., March 24—California's Democrats face the preferential primary of May 3, with three candidates formally in the contest at the party's national convention.

A ticket pledged to Alfred E. Smith, the 1928 standard bearer, qualified in Sacramento yesterday. Tickets supporting Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York and John N. Garner, speaker of the house of representatives, already had qualified.

"IDEAL MARRIAGE" OF FILM STAR ON ROCKS

Ann Harding Blames Hollywood Fame for Impending Divorce Suit.

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, March 24 — Marital unhappiness is listed as the price fame exacted from Ann Harding, film star, in an announcement that she and Harry Bannister, her leading man when she was a stage star on Broadway, would be divorced.

Blame was placed at the door of Hollywood fame in the announcement of the contemplated divorce, made by both Miss Harding and Bannister. It revealed a story not unfamiliar to Hollywood since it became the stamping ground of genius. It was the story of how one mate, however happily wed, can be shunted into obscurity, his own identity lost, in the radiance of the other.

The announcement was unpreceded by rumor for the married life of Miss Harding and Bannister had been regarded as ideal.

"Due to Harry's constant and generous effort to forward my interests, often at the expense of his own, he is gradually losing his identity, becoming a background for my activities, and looked upon as 'Ann Harding's husband,'" read a passage from Miss Harding's letter to the press.

"We have decided," the letter continued, "that the only way for Harry to reestablish himself in the profession is to cut the gordian knot, to set forth on his own—quite apart from me—and win his way back to the standing he enjoyed in the theater before the unfortunate situation in pictures has a chance to reach us and destroy the love and respect we have for each other"

PROMISES ENDS OF "PAYLESS PAYDAYS"

CHICAGO, March 24—A promise from Mayor Anton Cermak there would be no more empty pay envelopes for municipal employes after July came today to the city's unpaid school teachers and other workers along with a $4,133,000 cash payroll.

Mayor Cermak, speaking extemporaneously last night, said additional checks would be forthcoming next week and all of the city obligations to its employes—$23,000,000 in back salaries due 3,000 teachers alone and more millions due other workers—would be paid off entirely by July.

The city's credit, he said, has been strengthened by reorganization of the county's assessing machinery.

Representatives of Harding Area Going to April Meet in Cincinnati.

Important plans for the growth of scouting in the future will be heard by delegates from the Harding area council, Boy Scouts, who will attend the annual regional meeting April 1 and 2 in the Netherland Plaza hotel in Cincinnati.

Names of local delegates will be announced soon.

An "objectives committee" of the region, which comprises Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky, has been working on plans which will be included in a national 10-year program of development now under discussion. Plans of this nature will be put forth at the Cincinnati meeting after which the local delegates will study them in relation to the situation here. Members of the objectives committee include some of the "big names" of the middle west, such as Paul W. Litchfield of Akron, president of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., and J. Arthur House of Cleveland, president of the Guardian Trust Co.

Frank D. Glosser, president of the Harding area, and Wilbur H. Symes, scout commissioner, will be given special recognition at the meeting when they will be presented the national silver beaver awards at a banquet Friday night, April 1. Only a limited number of these awards will be made to the scout leaders of the three states. The men received the awards locally at the annual area meeting last December.

The Stars Say—

For Friday, March 25

WHILE the energies and spirit of initiative may be under high stimulus on this day, according to the transit of the moon over Mars, yet there may be such a disposition to set aside workaday affairs in favor of personal matters as to handicap business progress. The activities are likely to be centered on domestic, social, romantic affiliations, or the pursuit of pleasure and self indulgence, possibly to a spectacular or exciting degree. Safeguard the employment and conserve the finances.

Those whose birthday it is may feel strongly stimulated urges to enterprise and initiative during the year, but these may be diverted into social, domestic or romantic channels, or to the pursuit of pleasure and excessive extravagance, to the jeopardy of employment and other avenues of profit. These personal activities may have sensational denouements. A child born on this day should be active and energetic, with the forces and faculties all under high stimulus, but these may be turned to personal rather than other progress.

Woman Finds Way To Eat Egg and Have It

Even styles in Easter eggs change.

A Marion women has discovered that she can have colored Easter eggs for her children and fry them, too. Sounds fantastic, ut it was proved this morning at the Olney Avenue school building.

The mother brought several of the new Easter eggs to the school, for the Easter program.

She had chipped a piece of the shell away and removed the contents. Then she filled the shell with salt, closed the opening with paraffin, and colored the egg with Easter egg dye.

The result was a highly effective Easter egg, most inexpensive, colorful and of just as much amusement quality to the children as a basketful of hardboiled eggs.

GETS DIVORCE DECREE

MARYSVILLE, O., March 24—Judge F. LeRoy Allen granted Casby Long a divorce from his wife, Hazel Long, now living in London, O., on grounds of gross neglect of duty. They were married in Springfield, O., July 7, 1927, and have no children.

7 HOURS IN BED AND NOT 7 MINUTES' SLEEP

The Toll Acidity Takes!

When you go to bed dog-tired and can't sleep and you rise in the morning more tired than when you went to bed, it's a sign you're "acid." Acidity causes acid-indigestion with gas, sourness and burning and sets up intestinal putrefaction which saps our vitality and wears our nerves.

Magnesia Oxoids, developed in Germany by the world's foremost pharmaceutical house, correct acidity in the right way. Upon contact with the acid in the stomach, Magnesia Oxoids generate nascent, or active oxygen, which does the three things necessary to correct acidity—stimulates the alkaline gastric mucus, checks intestinal putrefaction, promotes bowel action. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids today and take two after each meal. See how much better you feel. If not more than surprised with the results, your money back. DISCUSS FIGHT ON TB AT MEET

Health Workers of Five Counties and State Attend Session.

Problems confronting voluntary health workers in Marion, Logan and Delaware counties were informally discussed at a meeting held Wednesday in the Hotel Harding, Marion. Dr. N. Sifritt, Marion county health commissioner and secretary of the Marion County Anti-Tuberculosis league, presided at the meeting and Dr. Robert G. Paterson, executive secretary of the Ohio Public Health association, led the discussion.

Need for emphasis on tuberculosis work in every county of the state was stressed by Dr. Paterson who advocated the county unit form of health organization as the ideal toward which to work.

Dr. F. C. Anderson, medical superintendent of the Ohio state sanatorium at Mt. Vernon, outlined the sanatorium situation in the state and explained the part that institutions play in the education of the public and the control of tuberculosis.

"A great deal of the success which we have had during the past few years in combatting the disease," he said, "has been due to the change which has taken place in the attitude of the public and the patients themselves toward tuberculosis." This change, he said, has been brought about through education by voluntary and official health workers.

Those attending the meeting were Dr. N. Sifritt, Miss Alma G. Denney, Marion county tuberculosis nurse, Mrs. French Crow, Mrs. Walter Hane, Mrs. Frank Longshore, Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. Frank Annen, Mrs. Walter Miley, Mrs. Grover Snyder, Mrs John T. McNamara, members of the Marion Anti-Tuberculosis league; Mrs. Edna Travis, Marion county public health nurse; Mrs. S. C. Frantz, executive secretary of the Logan County Public Health league; Miss Rhea Hartzler, Logan county public health nurse; Miss Alice J. Whittier, Delaware public health nurse; Mrs. Fanny Rosebrook, Delaware County Public Health league; Dr. F. C. Anderson of Mt. Vernon; Dr. Robert G. Paterson, executive secretary; Miss M. Fleeta Thomas, assistant secretary; Margretta Steele Claflin, publicity secretary; Arthur H. German, field secretary and Charles Greig, field representative of the Ohio Public Health association, Columbus.

Daily Proverb—I can not stain my honor with a deed of shame.—Byron.

The labor department's bureau of statistics reports that factory employment increased 1.2 per cent. during February and earnings 2.1 per cent. This wouldn't mean much in boom times, but it's decidedly pleasing news at present, if for no other reason than for its novelty.

According to dispatches from San Pedro, California, the recent maneuvers in the Pacific clearly demonstrated, in the opinion of navy officers, the necessity for more naval construction. Now, had the consensus of naval opinion been to the contrary, that would have been a real news story.

If it has been the purpose of the state senate welfare investigating committee to withhold information regarding conditions as it found them in the women's reformatory at Marysville until it makes its official report, it is evident that the plan in some way suffered an awful lot of leaks.

Three students were shot and another suffered a possible fracturing of his skull in a row over a "queen" at the University of Missouri, while dissatisfaction over the election of a "Queen of the May" down at Dennison university, here in our own state, has caused the inflection on newspaper readers of a rather long story regarding the threat of boy students there to elect a campus bull dog as queen of the May day exercises. Isn't this "queen" business being greatly overdone in schools and colleges, and are not newspapers overdoing the publicity end of it?

The long-established idea that a newspaper reporter was on duty all the time has been given a solar plexus blow by the North Carolina industrial commission, which has held that a reporter or editor is not a twenty-four-hour employe and can not collect workman's compensation for injuries sustained when not on actual duty. That comes pretty near leaving us hard-working spreaders of joy and sunshine in paragraphs in a class by ourselves.

H. Gerrish Smith, president of the National Council of American Shipbuilders, is authority for the statement that, as the result of new contracts awarded under the terms of the merchant marine act of 1928, the peak of activity in American shipyards will be attained during the present year. This means the peak of employment on full time for the remainder of the year, but the fly in the economic ointment is that there is little outlook for any considerable new construction for the coming year or the year to follow it.

Rotten Row, the famous bridal path in Hyde park, has lost its once high estate, and staid Londoners are shocked. Bare-headed and often bare-legged, the "crowd" is now riding where kings, princes, dukes and other members of royal and noble houses rode, and ribald jests are often directed at the riders where once respect and admiration were the rule. Londoners can stand for the real thing and do, but they have never been able to get up much enthusiasm for imitations, or for those who affect the eccentric and bizarre.

Getting Out the Vote.

A national campaign by the United States Junior chamber of commerce to get out 50,000,000 votes in the forthcoming presidential election deserves more support than it will get, probably. There is but one way to move the masses to the polls in unusually large numbers. That way was exploited in 1928 when Herbert Hoover and Alfred E. Smith aroused an unusual amount of popular interest. It was exploited in 1896 and again in 1900 when William McKinley and William Jennings Bryan fought each other tooth and nail. Attempts to create interest artificially never have been successful. Candidates cause voters to exercise their rights, not appeals to their pride or sense of responsibility.

It does not follow necessarily that 50,000,000 votes will not be cast next November, though the likelihood of such a turnout is small. A strong Democratic candidate and sound issues could do the trick, despite the fact that only 36,879,000 votes were cast in 1928. There is, however, no reason to believe that a national campaign to send sixty-eight per cent. of the electorate to the polls would succeed in arousing more than a few hundred thousand voters to take action. The real campaign will have no slogan, no name. It will be the actions of the two major parties between now and next November.

The normal increase in the total vote cast this year compared with 1928 might be expected to reach 4,000,000 votes—sufficient to raise the total to approximately 40,000,000 votes.

Lo, the American.

The right of residents of the United States to the name "American" is disputed constantly—more for the sake of quibbling than settling anything, one is led to suspect. However, there is said to be actual resentment among Mexicans, Brazilians, Canadians, Nicaraguans, Peruvians and Chileans against monopoly of a name which they claim belongs to all inhabitants of the two American continents.

They have good solid ground to stand on in making their objections—these other Americans. However, their case is weakened by the fact that no one ever thought of depriving them of the use of the term. They, themselves, relinquished their rights to it by using, instead, more convenient names indicating their various nationalities. Does a Canadian say he is an American. Does a Mexican say he is an American?

If other national groups had been as diligent in identifying themselves by their continent as residents of the United States have been, there never could have been any reason for the jealousy they claim is making them miserable now. An American would be almost any one from Cape Horn to Point Barrow. And the particular group of Americans living between the Rio Grande and the Canadian border would have been forced to exercise their ingenuity in finding a name for themselves with a specific national flavor.

The suggestion has been made that "United Stateser" be adopted, to soothe the Latin wrath of republican nations to the south and the sharp resentment of other good neighbors to the north. The sour, unbalanced sound of "United Stateser," of course, shows what the real difficulty is. When the founding fathers carved out a nation they neglected to chisel out a good name for the use of posterity. So it will have to be "American" or nothing.

Two indictments charging forgery, grand larceny and criminally receiving stolen securities have been returned against Charles A. Levine. It might have been just as well had Charles never sought to break into the publicity spotlight by being the first plane passenger across the Atlantic. He has been in trouble pretty much of the time ever since he broke into the first page.

On her first crossing of the Atlantic since the installation of a new type of turbine engines, the Norwegian-American liner, Stavangerfjord, maintained a speed of eighteen knots, compared with her former mark of 16.5 knots, made a fuel saving of eleven per cent. and reduced her steam consumption 31.5 per cent. Not only that, but her officers say she could easily have bettered her speed another knot. On this showing, it is manifest that the Diesel engine is to have a real competitor in the economic propulsion of watercraft.

March Caprice.

March gets the credit for giving Ohio its most violent weather of the year. A spring thunderstorm, a late winter gale and a snowstorm, all within twenty-four hours, helped to bring the capricious month's record up toward its average.

While winds were whistling, rain pattering and snow swirling in this state, other states, less fortunate, were trembling under the lash of tornadoes. Alabama was hit hardest, with the tail end of destructive wind storms lashing over southern states. Residents of southern Ohio felt their sting, too. No area in the state was without its moments of fear that major disaster was imminent.

Winters may be mild, summers uneventful, autumns calm, but spring always can be depended on to produce at least one winter thriller. The Atlantic coast is battered by gales, gulf states are terrorized by severe storms, the Great Lakes region bows before the grim tricks of high and low pressure areas. Perhaps the worst is over for another year. Scores of lives, hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property damage, humanity terrified momentarily by helplessness in the presence of the storm king's wrath should be enough of a sacrifice to make.

Former Attorney General Edward J. Brundage, of Illinois, now a candidate for gubernatorial honors in that state, charges that Al Capone is attempting to get control of the Republican party in Cook county. From many indications, it has been rather generally assumed that he was in control of both the two old parties up there.

Attacking the road construction unemployment relief bill, Wednesday, Senator Vandenberg, asserted that it was not primarily an unemployment relief measure, but "uses unemployment relief as an excuse to launch an extensive highway program in the states at the exclusive expense of the government. It is ninety-five per cent. highways and five per cent. relief. Instead of taking money where it is needed, it actually penalizes states where money is most needed." One has to admire a legislator who in times like the present, calls a spade a spade.

Citing that incomplete returns for 1931 reveal that 14,962 persons died from heart disease as compared with 8,991 in 1921, the state health department holds that many recent cases of the disease resulted from "fast living" and it urges Ohioans to "slow down." Maybe fast living is largely responsible, but the health department mustn't overlook the stuff people are taking in their mouths, these days, to steal away their brains.

In a message read at reunions throughout Italy, Wednesday, in celebration of the thirteenth anniversary of the founding of the first Fascist combat squads in Milan, Premier Mussolini congratulated his followers on the fact that they had passed one of the hardest winters from which Italy ever suffered and were presenting a spectacle of absolute calm and perfect discipline in the face of economic discomfort and severe privation. He also verbally belabored "enemies outside of Italy and a few defeatists within," which was to have been anticipated. Il Duce always does a little saber-rattling, if for no other reason than to enthuse "the boys."

THE TREADMILL.

Editorial Opinion.

FOLLOWING A RECKLESS LEADER.

Today the house will return to the contest over the manufacturers' sales tax. Perhaps it will have cooled off a bit and be in better shape to act sanely upon the question of raising enough revenue to balance the budget. Insanity, however, is not cured in a day or two; and the antics of the house on Friday and Saturday certainly gave the impression that many of its members were suffering from hallucinations of rather an advanced type. Representative McCormack, Democrat, of Massachusetts, called it mob psychology. Representative Rainey, Democratic floor leader, said of them that they had made "a longer step in the direction of communism than any other country in the world ever made except Russia.

Rainey may have put the case somewhat strongly, but nevertheless the house has staged a most astonishing spectacle. It was that of a majority of those voting for virtual confiscation repudiating the leaders of both Democratic and Republican parties and blindly following a Socialist of the New York variety, Representative La Guardia, who parades the badge of Republicanism only on election day. It was a rush of men utterly heedless of results rallying to the banner of a single leadership that is as radical as it is reckless. It was a queer combination of Republicans and Democrats that stampeded in this amazing manner and turned a deaf ear to the warnings that the goal sought was disaster.

Whether many of these bolters, who have nothing practical to offer in place of the revenue measure so laboriously drafted by the ways and means committee, are still bent on heading the finances of the nation straight toward chaos will be determined in short order, since it is the determination of the ways and means committee to force promptly the issue of the sales tax. If it can be saved, the government will pull out of trouble and regain a firm footing. If it is sacrificed, there must be a period of disturbance harmful to the country. But perhaps it is disturbance that the Socialistic La Guardia desires.

What he and his rash followers—and in passing just contemplate a lot of Democrats actually bowing to the dictation of a Socialist-Republican!—what he and they have accomplished up to date is this: They have raised the normal tax to seven per cent. on incomes of over $8,000 and they have graduated surtaxes on $100,000 and upward from forty per cent to sixty-five per cent. and this means, counting the normal levy, that they demand totals of forty-seven to seventy-two per cent. They have stricken from the bill the "foreign credits" section under which corporations doing business abroad are given credit for taxes paid in foreign countries. This is double taxation—ruinous. And, running wild with their success, they have proposed to get rid of the manufacturers' sales tax altogether.

Should they triumph, what would they give us instead? The confiscatory income surtax would yield little. Investments would seek nontaxable securities. There would be no guess work about this. It would be history repeating itself. True, a goodly amount—variously estimated, but running into hundreds of millions—could be obtained from a tax on beer, but there is no evidence that either the house or the senate is ready to raise the alcoholic content of beer, even to such a moderate percentage of 2.75. What next? Nothing but numerous taxes on retail sales—which every purchaser would pay—and heavy excises which, to quote Representative Snell, would bring a howl from industries.

The budget must be balanced. Congress must raise the required revenue. The manufacturers' sales tax offers a method that is painless to the consumer. Considering that the proposed tax is but temporary, it is passing strange that any considerable number of members of the house should refuse to try the experiment. If it fails, it will automatically be eliminated. If it is successful, it can be continued, but only by the action of congress.

It is a perfectly sane, a perfectly safe, a perfectly practical experiment. None other is.—Philadelphia Inquirer, March 22.

Vaccination a Boon to Mankind.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

In 1796 vaccination against smallpox was first accomplished in England by Edward Jenner. This discovery was of tremendous value to mankind. It gave protection against smallpox, at that time a common and dreaded disease, which was then prevalent throughout the world and caused more deaths than any other disease.

Too many people do not realize the importance of vaccination against smallpox. Because of the rareness of the disease today, many neglect vaccination. Though the disease is not as common as in the days of Jenner, yet smallpox is found in communities where vaccination has been neglected.

Many are opposed to vaccination. These are the so-called "anti-vaccinationists." As I view it, their attitude is injurious to the health of their followers. Vaccination has definitely controlled the spread of smallpox, and in countries where vaccination is compulsory the disease is rarely encountered.

Every baby should be vaccinated against smallpox before it is twelve months old, and it is safe to vaccinate an infant as early as the age of six months. It is best to do this even if there is no smallpox in the community. The disease may break out when least expected, and it is extremely dangerous for an infant.

Vaccination is a simple procedure and rarely if ever causes any important reaction. There is no pain associated with the scratching of the skin with a special needle containing the vaccine.

Some believe that if once vaccinated they are immune to smallpox the rest of their lives. This is not true. The protection given by vaccination has been estimated to be approximately seven years. In order to have continued protection against smallpox it is necessary that the vaccination be repeated at intervals not longer than seven years.

Do not be misled by alarming statements about the "perils" of vaccination. There has been abundant proof that vaccination deserves all the credit and praise it has received.

If your children have not been vaccinated attend to the matter at once. If they have been vaccinated and a period of seven years has elapsed, they should be vaccinated again.

Vaccination against smallpox is just as important for adults as it is for children. If every one would cooperate in this matter, smallpox would eventually be completely eradicated.

Please remember that though smallpox is rare it still exists. In 1930 there were more cases of smallpox reported in the United States than in any other country with the exception of Great Britain.

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington, March 24—Sam Rayburn, of Texas, veteran in politics that he is, in all probability during the next few months will learn some entirely new things about the game he has played almost since the time he was old enough to vote.

In charge of sponsoring Jack Garner for the Democratic nomination for the presidency, the sturdy Texan is running into much the same things that the manager of an aspiring champion in sport encounters.

His task perhaps is even harder. He is not permitted to enter his potential champion in preliminary bouts prior to the big battle at Chicago in June. Actually he must be alert to prevent such a thing by admirers of his man as evidenced by his effort to keep Garner out of the running in the Georgia primary.

The task of sitting idly by making friends for his candidate and placating enemies is not an easy one.

• • •

But Rayburn is one of the best men for that kind of job the friends of Garner could have picked.

He is noted in congress, where he has served nineteen years, for his coolness and his level head. He is a leader among the Democrats in the house and sits in on the inner councils of his party.

Rayburn knows politics and plays the game in a practical way.

• • •

Texas selected Rayburn to look after Garner's interests because they wanted a man in Washington to keep things running orderly. He vetoes or approves every move made in Garner's behalf.

It was his idea that Garner should stay out of the primary in Georgia and he moved to persuade Judge Howard to withdraw. He knew that the Roosevelt set-up there was formidable and that at best probably the only thing Garner could get would be a black eye.

The wisdom of his decision was borne out later when Roosevelt requested Georgia Democrats to permit Governor Murray, of Oklahoma, to enter.

That's Rayburn's mission. No one knows better than he the truth of the old political adage that "I can take care of myself, but God deliver me from my friends."

The First Anti-Slavery Speaker.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

An Ohio man, Samuel Galloway, who represented the Columbus district in congress in 1834-5, the thirty-fourth congress, serving but a single term, was instrumental in settling the long contest over the election of a speaker of the house which continued from the 3d day of December, 1834, until February 3, 1855, and resulted in the election of Nathaniel P. Banks, of Massachusetts. Mr. Banks was the first anti-slavery speaker ever elected in the house, and this victory was the first forward step in the irrepressible conflict which placed Abraham Lincoln in the White House.

The thirty-fourth was a notable congress. The reactions against the encroachments of the slave power had now fully set in the North, the Whig party because of its timidity on the slavery question had practically gone to pieces, and the great majority of the representatives from the North had come to the new congress under pledges to resist the further extension of slavery.

It was nearly midnight of February 2, 1855, when Representative Galloway was called from his bed by an urgent request to attend a caucus of anti-slavery members of the house. That conference lasted until almost daybreak, and when he returned to his room to get a little more rest, he urged Mrs. Galloway to attend the session of the house the next morning, as he felt sure that she would witness the election of a speaker if she did so. That actually happened, and Mr. Banks was elected on the next ballot, the 133d. Some way they had found a plan to break the deadlock, and it worked perfectly.

Banks, an outstanding figure in politics just then, was known in politics as the "Bobbin-Boy Statesman." Because he had spent a number of years as an employe in textile factories and had only a common school education. He left political life to take command in the union army when the Civil war came on, but was not very successful as a military leader, was finally relieved, resigned his commission and reentered congress.

"You say Jack is still in the hospital. Pretty sick, eh?"

"No, pretty nurse."

• • •

Thin Straphanger—"It's terrible, having to wait for a seat, isn't it?"

Fat ditto—"You're lucky. I have to wait for two seats."

• • •

"I understand you contemplate a curtailment in your business affairs."

"Yes," answered Mr. Dustin Stax. "I had one business doctor after another. Finally they got together in consultation and decided we'd have to resort to surgery."

• • •

Pupil—"No, sir, but I know how long it lasted."

• • •

"Why did you throw the pot of geraniums at the plaintiff?"

"Because of an advertisement, your honor."

"What advertisement?"

"Say it with flowers."

• • •

Advertiser—"What we need is a man to run a slicing machine. Have you had any experience?"

Applicant—"I used to play golf."

Mayfair Hard Hit.

BY W. G. QUISENBERRY

London, March 24—U.P.—Through the small genteel streets of Mayfair, domain of London's aristocrats, poverty is stalking today.

Few if any, of Britain's great families have escaped financially unscathed from the economic storm. Many have seen their fortunes dwindle to nothing. Many, lost without the social contacts they can no longer afford, have locked their old houses and gone away.

More than one peer, if the public but knew it, lives in an attic. More than one famous drawing-room, only recently alive with brilliant men and women, is dark and silent now. They are available at a good price to rich American visitors—but there are not as many rich American visitors now.

The occasional sale of some great house, or country estate is all that one hears of their troubles. Sometimes they may admit that the burden of taxation has been too great to keep it up. Oftener they slip away to a cheaper place in another part of the country, or go abroad to live for a time on a little pension.

Although their fortunes are gone, some of those who have lived most of their lives in Mayfair can not tear themselves away. They stay on, but in different circumstances. One woman who three years ago spent £50,000 to redecorate her town house, without missing it, now occupies a bed-sitting room in the house of one of her former domestics.

The English, as a rule, can take their bad luck philosophically. There is even a "Bad Luck" club, whose members gather once a year in a West End hotel to smile and shake their heads reflectively as each recites his woes.

"Yes, we are a queer club," the president said. "All the members have suffered some outstanding example of bad luck. Our vice president, Charles Champion, of Wimbledon, went to South Africa in one of the diamond rushes. He was lucky and sent back thousands of pounds worth of fine stones to his bank.

"After a while, when he thought he had made a big enough pile, he went to the bank to get his stones from the safe deposit box. Both bank and banker were gone.

"Then there is a Liverpool man, who has been shipwrecked three times. Each time he lost everything he had. Another member has been married twice and lost each wife within a week of the wedding."

Alfredo, one of London's favorite dance orchestra leaders, has decided to renounce jazz.

"I'm saying good-by to the trumpets and saxaphones, the banjoes and the trombones," he said, "because I feel that the public no longer wants jazz."

Alfredo now has a highly-popular orchestra made up of Gypsy musicians. He made thousands of records as a jazz band leader.

CORNET AND CURL COIFFURE

One of women's knottiest problems is how to arrange the crowning glory in the most becoming manner. Here, Dorothy Jordan, screen player, gives her version of the ideal coiffure. It is a combination of cornet braid and curls. The braid forms a halo around the head, coming down the left side over the ear and pinned back on the right side. The soft ringlet line softens the nape of the neck and adds femininity to the face.

Her friendliness had given Kitty more confidence in her work. Quite consciously she had copied Josie's competent sales manner.

But today she felt a zest that was not borrowed from Josie. It was a busy day. Blouses? She had patience for the most exacting shopper.

A jersey dress copied from an imported model was the joke of the department, to every one but Miss Lee, the buyer. It had hung in the case since spring.

"No, I don't want a suit—I want a dress of some kind, something that's a little different," a customer told Kitty, this morning. And Kitty took the jersey dress out of the case. "It's a Patou copy," she said, as she had said before, but there was a difference in her voice this morning and in the way she smiled over the garment as she held it out. "Don't you want to try it on?"

And 10 minutes later the dress went to the bundle counter, sold.

A little later Miss Lee, approaching Kitty in her brisk manner, commended her for her sale. "What time do you go out for lunch, Miss Brandon? Twelve? Change with one of the girls and come with me at 1. I've an appointment at the Hoffman at 2:30 and we'll eat there."

At Stratton's Kitty knew Miss Lee was an efficient manager, with a brittle manner that made the girls in her department a little afraid of her. But as they sat down at a small table in the Hoffman dining-room she seemed to soften, grow younger, more animated, as if she threw off a self she kept for business just as she slipped out of her smart coat and let the waiter fold it over the chair back.

"Now, let's see—" Miss Lee suggested one thing and another. "You'll like the chef's salad. And oysters, sweetbread patties—that sounds good. Are there mushrooms with them, waiter? Mushrooms—and the pumpkin pie." She put the card down, immensely satisfied, and looked at Kitty.

Her glance rested on Kitty's face, speculatively. "Do you like your work?"

"Oh, yes, now. I felt stupid at first."

"Well, that's a good sign, that you're willing to admit you were stupid. I've been watching you. You'll get on. In fact I picked you out for good material the first day you came. You worked as if you wanted to—most of them don't do that. Why you want to, of course, is your business but it's mine to know that you are in earnest, not just taking a try at it."

Her tone was questioning and Kitty answered:

"I am in earnest, truly."

"Good. I'll tell you what's on my mind but don't say anything about it in the department. They've promised me an assistant—the promise is so old that it has moss on it, but they've got to make good this spring because the department's grown. Can't you see that it's grown even since you've been there, Miss Brandon? Well if they want to keep me they've got to make good. And they'll listen to any recommendations I make. There's your chance. I'm not saying anything definite, understand; it's up to you."

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge and Lillian Conspire To Defeat Avis Arlen's Plan To Outshine the Other Girls at the Dinner Dance.

I DID NOT DARE to look at Lillian as Avis Arlen gurgled her apparently ingenuous complaint that she had been with Noel all the morning, but that he had said no word about the dinner dance which I was planning in her mother's honor and hers. Was the girl lying?—I had no illusions concerning the elasticity of her conscience where the truth was concerned—or was Noel, kept away from Mary by the scheme to cure Marion, again giving Avis justification for the proprietary air that she invariably used toward him?

Madge Puts Avis at Ease

My memory of the last time I had seen her was as vivid as it was unpleasant. Goaded beyond endurance, Mary had so flamed out at her that she had scuttled, like a frightened rabbit, away from Noel to the side of her mother and Philip Veritzen. Noel had stood quietly by, had said no word in her defense, and had shown plainly that his allegiance was wholly Mary's.

I knew that in Dicky's parlance the girl had a "rhinocerous hide," but it did not seem possible that any girl with an atom of self-respect could ever admit Noel to friendship again, or could ever be willing to attend any gathering at which Mary was also to be a guest.

But Avis Arlen, as I had learned in my brief experience with her, was bound by no ordinary rules when an objective—especially a masculine one—was before her.

And my answer to her was made with the unpleasant consciousness that she had not given up her pursuit of Noel, no mater what the truth of the words she had just uttered.

"I'm sure you won't have to 'slay' him," I said lightly, and if I ever felt less playful in my life, I do not remember it. "He knows nothing of the party. Indeed, only my husband and Mrs. Underwood share my plans so far. We hardly could invite anyone else before our guests of honor."

"Then I'll forgive him," she said, with a possessive little air that made my fingers itch to slap the Cheshire cat smile from her face, "and the party will be wonderful! We'll just love to come, won't we, Mumsie?"

"Indeed, yes," her mother replied. "But we'll have to go to the city tomorrow. Neither of us has a thing fit to wear."

Avis Reveals a Plot

"Oh, Mumsie! How you talk!" her daughter said quickly, before I could offer a demur. "Mrs. Graham has just said it was only semi-formal, and we both have Summer evening dresses that will be all right, I am sure."

Did I imagine it, or had she given some private signal to her mother as she spoke. I was not sure, until the call ended and we were back in our car again., Lillian spoke with equal amusement and distaste.

"Little Avis isn't always so moronish as she appears," she began. "Did you pipe the way she shut Mamma up?"

"Yes, her mother agreed promptly to her dictum of no new gowns. Do you suppose she was——"

"Plain lying, my dear. No fancy name goes." Lillian's teeth clicked viciously. "She wishes us to believe that she will appear in something old, thus giving our girls no excuse for buying new things. But will she outrival the Queen of Sheba when she steps into the farmhouse? Ask me and I'll say 'yes' a dozen times or more. Well' that means I'll have to take Mary and Marion and Carolyn into the city tomorrow. I'll telephone Helena tonight, although I really do not need to. She's always willing to spend money on Carolyn, and I'm sure Dicky will cough up for Mary."

"Of course," I said when I could stop laughing at her vehemence and her quick resolution to match Avis Arlan at her own game. "You'll get a gown for yourself," I added slyly.

"What?" she demanded, then laughed.

Ready to Foil Avis

"Stop spoofing me," she said. "You know we're not going to try to outshine the guest of honor. Let Mama try the wiles of a new Paris model on Phil without any competition. But the girls! That's a different thing. That eel Avis puts anything over on them, only over my dead body."

"Bravo! brava! bravura!" I said "I will see that Dicky 'coughs up' and I'll speed you all on your way in the morning. But now, tell me something. You said there was 'one thing' that you didn't have time to tell me before our call. I've been consumed with curiosity ever since."

"It really is nothing," she hesitated, and I saw with surprise that she was reluctant to enlighten me.

"Don't tell me if you'd rather not," I said, quickly.

"I'd rather not, all right," she retorted grimly, "but I guess I'll have to spill it, for it is important, despite my disclaimers. You didn't mention Ede's name. Aren't you going to invite her?"

PHILLIES LIKELY TO STAGE BATTLE FOR FIRST DIVISION POST

Quaker City Nationals Appear To Have Much Improved Baseball Club.

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 24—Far from appearing a futile factor in the National league picture this spring, the Philadelphia Nationals look strong enough to figure in a prospective five-club scramble for fourth place.

They do not hear the pennant bee buzzing nor does their Manager Burt Shotton, dream of miracles, but he most decidedly thinks his club will show improvement for at least three reasons. Its followers think it will battle Brooklyn, Pittsburgh, Boston and Cincinnati in the tussle to get out of the second division.

First and foremost is the Phils' outlook for much better pitching, with some adequate talent for the all-important "mop-up" work, as well as a "big four" consisting of Phil Collins, Jim Elliott, Ray Benge and Clise Dudley.

Has Better Spirit

Second, there is more speed and aggressive spirit manifest.

Personally, Shotton does not think there is another outfield in the league as good as Charles Herbert (Chuck) Klein.

To strengthen the outer patrol where enemy singles have been sifting through for doubles and triples, Shotton has confidence in Hal Lee for left field and a new comer, George Davis, for the middle garden.

If they do not measure up, the Phils have the veteran Rube Bressler or the choice of Russ Scarritt, ex-Red Sox, or Fred Brickell, a speed merchant but weak sticker.

Plenty of Hurlers

Aside from Benge, Dudley, Collins and Elliott, the big southpaw who won 19 games for a sixth place club last year, Shotton bases his anticipation of better pitching upon the showing of a trio of newcomers—Roy Hansen, Red Grabowski and Edgar Holley.

Al Todd is one of the best looking young backstops on view in any Florida camp. He seems certain to make himself useful, in support of Virgil Davis, number 1 receiver, and Harry McCurdy.

With Captain Arthur (Pinkey) Whitney in improved health, for his work at third, and Les Mallon, a much improved second baseman, the infield appears the backbone of the club's defensive strength. Dick Bartell is at short and Don Hurst, a slugger, on first.

ELIMINATION SHOOT HELD BY GUN CLUB

The Marion Rifle association staged an elimination shoot last night to determine the five men who will compete against Delaware on Friday night at 7:30 p. m. The five high men were Bob Banks, 360, J. M. Martin, 362, W. J. Loop, 344, Rogers, 353, and Brady, 353. Alternates for Friday night are Underwood, 314, Van Kleek, 320, and Bowles, 342.

The team captained by Van Kleek had the high team score last night, scoring 2209 points to 1969 for the Banks combine.

Four games are on the opening night's program. Four more will be played on Friday night, two on Saturday morning, the semi-finals Saturday afternoon and the championship conflict on Saturday night.

Some of the classiest court combinations in this section of Ohio will don the shorts to battle for the trophies which are at stake in the tourney. Stars of high schools and colleges are numbered among the lineups of the various competing teams.

College Stars Play

Reiff's Bulldogs of Bucyrus are bringing Alex Kish, former Wittenberg star, to cavort at a guard post; DeWitt-Hall Motors of Akron will bring some of the best scholastic players of the Rubber City and also Red Harrigan, University of Michigan star in 1929; Plain City Cubs will have Jim Freshwater, brilliant member of the crack Ostrander High school team of this season; Reliable Coals of Columbus have Eddie Plank Bus Woodward, Dave Cohen, Howard Eigensee and Mike Brannon, all well known here; Community Laundry of Lima has Bob Diamond, Paul Hargrave and Mike Lynch, all brilliant collegiate performers.

Marion Stars Entered

Marion's own star court workers will also get a chance to shine in the tourney. The Rexall Drugs' lineup includes the one and only Jack Ling of Harding High school fame, as well as Vic Gillis, Freddie Vestal, Bill Roush and several others who are bywords as far as local basketball is concerned. Green Camp Baptists have Marlon Porter, a smooth working forward. Caledonia has a well-balanced team that has been compiling a good record in the district all season. All of these and plenty more of equal ability will be witnessed in action during the four sessions of competition.

J. R. Young of Washington and Jefferson university and Hugh Shults of Muskingum college will do the officiating for the games tonight. The first battle will get under way promptly at 7 p. m.

PETROLLE FAVORITE TO BEAT BATTALINO

However, Ring Fans Are Puzzled Over Bat's Chances of Victory.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 24—Bat Battalino, the boy who had the fight faithful wondering a couple of years ago how he ever became a champion, offers the fans a new puzzle tonight. That is can he get past the barrier old Billy Petrolle has put up in front of so many hopeful young boxers.

Since he captured the featherweight championship from Andre Routis, Battalino has shown great improvement as well as a sudden increase in weight, but the confidence of the fans seldom has been with him. They made Petrolle an 8 to 5 favorite tonight, then promptly raised the question whether Bat can be beaten when he is the underdog. He hasn't been yet.

Petrolle also looks like one of the ring's unbeatables. He came out of retirement a year and a half ago and has been carrying on a great comeback campaign ever since.

Taking in everything, Battalino appears to be about the toughest customer Petrolle has met in his 18 months of triumphant warfare.

Signs point to something like a sellout crowd of 19,000 for the match.

"SLIP" EYMON WINS FEATURE RING BOUT

"Slip" Eymon, substituting fo "Rocky" Boggs took a decision from Art Amick last night in the feature bout of the boxing-wrestling show put on by the Golden Ruled athletic club on Silver street. Johnny Hostetter beat Ward Garrison in the four round semi-final; Martie Blue won from Charles Caprino and Frankie Chizmar and Ted Gardner battle three rounds to a draw.

In the main go wrestling bout, "Skeets" Frazier of Marion took two straight falls from Wayne Moffet of Upper Sandusky. Jimmy Wrenn pinned Young Maidlow in the semi-final. In the two preliminaries, Tony Caprino won from Sam Cicero and Dickie Bartlett wrestled 10 minutes to a draw with Freddy Massie.

The club will put on an all-boxing show next Wednesday night.

KAPPAS CALLED

The recreation baseball team of Kappa Alpha Phi fraternity will organize for the coming season Friday night at the Y. M. C. A. All members of the Kappa team are asked to report at 7:30 p. m. for the organization meeting. The club will again compete this season in the Commercial league. The Kappas have been champions of the Friday night circuit for the last two seasons.

MARION'S CLASSIEST CHURCH QUINTET

Marion's classiest Sunday school basketball team.

The above appears the best way to describe the Central Christian church court combine which completed its season Tuesday by finishing in the runner-up position in the Y-County cage tournament here.

Two championships and one second place post in one season. That's not a bad record. The Christians have accomplished just that, having won the city church league in the full season of competition and also having marked up a victory in an elimination tournament held among members of the same league. Caledonia beat out the Christians for the championship of the Y-county meet by taking a thrilling 31-29 decision.

The Christians chalked up a total of 14 victories in 16 starts during the season. Calvary Evangelical is the second team to stop the Christians.

Vic Gillis, forward, Cecil Reid, guard, John Gillis, center and captain, Don McAninch, guard, and Earl Lantz, forward.

Porter Scores 124 Points To Lead Cage Loop

Merton Porter of the Green Camp Baptists led the Marion county Sunday school league in point scoring, figures released today by league officials reveals. WALDO GIRLS' QUINT COPS CHAMPIONSHIP OF Y TOURNAMENT

Marion Business College Loses 27-18 Tilt; Claridon Beats La Rue.

Walking off with a 27-18 victory over the Marion Business college lassies, the Waldo Independents last night copped the championship of the first annual Y—County girls' basketball tournament on the Y. M. C. A. court. Four teams took part in the tournament. The contestants were Claridon, Marion Business college, LaRue Independents and Waldo Independents.

With Ava Strine and Doris Schultz providing the major portion of the scoring punch, Waldo swept into a first period lead over the future bookkeepers and was never headed in any of the four periods of play. The Business college finished the first quarter in a 5-5 deadlock but that was the closest the Marion city five ever came to scoring a victory. Strine and Schultz both racked up 11 points.

Ruth Mohr and Luella Mautz were the leading scorers for the losing quintet, Mohr ringing up a total of seven points while Mautz accounted for six.

The Claridon Independents and LaRue, both eliminated in the first round of the tourney, played a preliminary game to the championship clash with the Claridon five romping off with a 47-12 victory. Timson and F. Kraner each scored 14 points and G. Kraner accounted for 13.

COMMISSION MAKES CHANGES IN RULES

Discussion of changes in eligibility rules occupied the major share of time as the city softball commission convened last night at the Y. M. C. A. Several shifts were made in the eligibility rules of players of the Industrial league teams. The changes in the rules were not available for publication today but are expected to be available Friday.

Aside from the rules changes the commission transacted no business of importance.

Entry blanks for the coming season may be obtained at the Y at any time now, Elmer Shaw, secretary of the commission announced last night.

Around the Training Camps

By The Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS—Dick Porter, Indian ball hawk, remained behind today when the Tribe left for Gulfport, Miss., for a game with the Baltimore Orioles. Porter, suffering from a strained leg muscle, is the first Cleveland casualty in four weeks of training. With the squad getting rapidly into condition, it seemed likely that New Orleans will be the Cleveland training camp for another year. It appeared for a time that the camp would be switched to California. The principal criticism of the Louisiana city is its remoteness from other big league camps, not permitting a spring schedule with major opponents.

* * *

TAMPA, Fla. — Cincinnati's pride in acquisition of Ernest Lombardi and Wally Gilbert from the Brooklyn Dodgers was swelled further today.

Though the scorer marked the contest with the Dodgers as a 3-3 tie when rain drowned out the last three innings yesterday, the Reds confidently held it should have been 1 to 0 in Cincinnati's favor, and the victory chalked up to the excellent work of those two ex-dodgers behind the plate and at third.

* * *

ST. PETERSBURG—The New York Yankees are accusing Joe Sewell, their veteran third baseman, of "slipping" after only a dozen years in major leagues. The eagle-eyed Joe actually struck out yesterday. He has been known to go through a whole season with only four strikeouts.

* * *

LOS ANGELES — The New York Giants have their first casualty of the training season since Frank Hogan came out second best in a collision with the Wrigley field grandstand. Freddy Lindstrom has a strained muscle in his right thigh.

* * *

SAN ANTONIO—American league batters can start fearing Ted Lyons right now. The White Sox star made his pitching debut yesterday and held San Antonio of the Texas league hitless and scoreless

STOCKS SLUMP AFTER ADVANCE

Shares Push Higher in Morning, but Lose Gain in Later Trading.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 24—The market was unable to make progress today, in the face of pronounced speculative apathy. The list rallied up moderately in the early trading, as higher crude prices bolstered the oils, but scattered selling soon appeared, which wiped out most of the advance, and left a number of rails, utilities and specialities, 1 to 2 points lower, trading appeared to represent largely a pre-holiday lightening of accounts, however, as many traders were preparing to leave town until Monday.

Losses of around 2 points cropped out in Santa Fe and Union Pacific, and issues off a point or so included American Telephone, North American, American Tobacco "B," McKeesport, National Biscuit, and Procter & Gamble. U. S. Steel and General Motors sagged fractionally, the letter registering another new low. Anaconda and kennecott again dipped fractionally to new bottom prices. Standards of New Jersey and California sold up more than a point during the temporary morning upturn, and fractional advances in the oil group were numerous for a time.

The advance of 15 cents a barrel in crude prices in the mid-continent area, posted by Continental Oil, was apparently to be followed by other producers generally, and represented the first upturn since November. Further firmness in gasoline prices was forecast as a result, and the general petroleum outlook was regarded as reassuring in view of the approach of the season of heavy gasoline consumption, and the recent improvement in control of the volume of refining.

While petroleum prices stiffened, however, copper was again heavy. Copper Exporters, Inc., reduced its price at European base ports ¼ of a cent to 6¼ cents a pound. This reduction, however, merely amounted to official recognition of the conditions recently prevailing in the export market.

GRAIN VALUES RECORD GAINS

Light World Shipments Send Prices into General Uptrend.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 24—Influenced by prospects of only light world shipments of wheat this week, grain values averaged higher early today. The Liverpool wheat market made a full response to yesterday's advance here, and sterling exchange was stronger. Opening at ⅛@¼ advance, Chicago wheat futures afterward held near the initial range. Corn started ⅛@¼ up and subsequently reacted.

With world shipments of wheat expected to be smaller owing to curtailment of exports from Argentina, Australia and the Black sea, indications were for a reduction of supplies afloat for importing countries. This was construed as bullish, and it was also asserted that sudden advances in British exchange rates had placed the Liverpool wheat market sharply higher than due. Profit taking on price advances here, however, led soon to setbacks which carried the market to well below yesterday's finish.

Disappointment was expressed that overseas demand for North American wheat had apparently failed to broaden. Bears put emphasis also on lack of general speculative buying support, despite Winnipeg advices that a material falling off was noticeable in the movement of wheat from Canadian rural sources. Predictions of favorable weather for domestic winter wheat growth were responsible for some selling. Corn and oats rose and fell with wheat.

Provisions sagged owing to hog market declines.

Fire Damage Slight.

Sparks from a chimney were blamed for a $5 roof fire at the home of Mrs. Madge Fouts at 1202 Bryant street shortly before 11 a. m. today. Firemen from the No. 3 station answered a call sent in by neighbors. The blaze had been practically extinguished before the arrival of the firemen.

A sedan driven by Mrs. Alice Gehrke of Oceola, near Bucyrus, was badly damaged in a collision at the intersection of Center and State streets late yesterday afternoon.

The accident, according to police, occurred when Mrs. Gehrke, who was driving east on Center, made a left-hand turn. The other car was going west on Center. The other motorist whose name was not learned, drove his car away while Mrs. Gehrke's machine was taken to the garage of the Haberman Chevrolet Co.

Rev. Bourquin Outlines Day's Holy Week Sermon

Rev. Paul H. Bourquin of Salem Evangelical church will deliver a holy week sermon tonight at the First Church of the Brethren on events relating to the life of Jesus on his last day of life on earth Four other ministers, Rev. James O. Dodd of Central Christian church, Rev. H. H. Maxwell of Grace Evangelical church, Rev. W Martell George of Wesley M. E church and Rev. G. G Canfield of the First Church of the Brethren, will preach sermons tonight on the same theme. The five pastors are exchanging pupils this week. The services are at 7.30 p m.

Rev. Mr. Bourquin's sermonette, taken from his sermon tonight, follows:

"Thursday was an important day of passion week, the last week of our Master's earthly life Some of the events recorded to have taken place that day are, the preparation for the passover, the strife among the disciples, the washing of the disciples feet, the institution of the Lords supper, the farewell discourse of Jesus, and finally that wonderful intercessory prayer, recorded in the seventeenth chapter of the Gospel of St. John.

"With the words of our text the Master begins His farewell discourses They appeal to us with special force, because they sincerely emphasize the greatest, grandest, sweetest thing of Heaven and earth Love- love to God and love to one another.

"Jesus glances at His faithful disciples from whom He soon would be separated, and in the most friendly and sympathetic manner says to them, 'Little children, yet a little while I am with you. Ye shall seek Me, and as I said unto the Jews Whither I go, ye can not come'

"We can imagine how they felt, as He said, 'Yet a little while I am with you. It must have filled them with great sorrow. And it was harder still as He added, 'Ye shall seek Me.' They realized how much they would miss Him. If only they could go with Him and die with Him. But that was not possible He distinctly told them, 'Whither I go, ye can not come' He had important work for them to do. He had prepared and trained them to continue the work He had begun They were fully equipped to be His messengers unto the uttermost parts of the earth And we know how they worked and labored and sacrificed, and endured and suffered and died for the sake of their Master and His Kingdom.

"He goes on with His discourse saying, 'A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another, as I loved you By this shall all men know that ye are My disciples, if ye have love one to another'

"How could He call brotherly love a new commandment? We know it was a very old commandment, given in the law of Moses, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself' Now Jesus could call this commandment new because it can be learned only in His school and practiced only in His spirit.

"'As I loved you,' He refers to His love. Oh there are so many evidences of His Love But the greatest proof of His love is His suffering and death. He willingly and patiently bore the worst tortures of His body and soul because of His great love to us No pain was too severe, no burden was too heavy, no insults were too painful for Him in His love. That's why He could say: 'Greater love hath no man than this, that He lay down his life for his friends'

"'How can we return His great love? He tells us: 'That ye love one another, even as I loved you'

"We are told as the apostle John because of his great age was not able to walk to the meetings, his friends carried him and was not able to make long addresses, so he repeated over and over again 'Children love one another.' As they ask him why he repeated that so often, he said, 'Because its the new commandment of the Lord, and it's so important'"

The schedule for tonight's meetings follows: Rev Mr Dodd at Salem Evangelical church, Rev. Mr. Maxwell at Central Christian church, Rev. Mr. George at Grace Evangelical church, and Rev Mr Canfield at Wesley M E church

AMERICA WINS

France Loses Tennis Matches but Borotra Proves Popularity.

NEW YORK, March 24—The United States captured the title and the trophy in the international indoor tennis team matches with France but once more it was Jean Borotra, the veteran bounding Basque, who showed himself to be the idol of the fans.

America won by the margin of three matches to two and it was the 34-year-old Borotra who won both of France's victories. He defeated Frank Shields handily in one singles match Monday, then concluded the series last night by trouncing Gregory Mangin, the nation indoor champion from Newark, in four sets after Shields had clinched the American victory by beating Christian Boussus.

Borotra failed Tuesday night to overcome the weakness of his young partner, Antoine Gentien, in the doubles, and lost to George Lott and Johnny Van Ryn.

GROLL SHOOTS 403, BUT LOSES MATCH

Despite the fact that Captain Ross Groll banged the targets for a total score of 403 out of a possible 500, the No. 1 team of the Marion Revolver association was defeated last night on the police station range by the No 4 combine led by Lawrence Schneider Schneider's marksmen collected 1,666 points to 1,649 for the Groll five.

Groll's 403 was high score for both teams. C. C. Conklin was second high scorer for the losers with 354., Schneider with 388 led the winners and Ralph Slagle turned in a score of 324 to take second place

Tonight's shoot will match Captain L. Groll's No. 3 team against Captain Harry Smith's No. 5 combine.

Reserves Hear Pastor.

Rev. S. F. Porter of Emmanuel Baptist church spoke on the subject, "Easter and What It Means to Us," at a meeting yesterday afternoon of the North Main street school Girl Reserves. The members sang two songs, "Follow the Gleam" and "The Old Rugged Cross." Wednesday, March 30, was announced as the date for a candle light service. The group voted to hold the meetings bi-weekly instead of each week.

STUMP IS SPEAKER AT LABOR MEETING

One New Delegate Seated at Session of Central Union.

Dale W. Stump, former president of the Columbus federation of labor and former supervisor of claims in the state industrial commission, was guest speaker last night at the meeting of Marion Central Labor union in Labor hall. Fred Palmer, formerly Neighbor Palmer of station WAIU of Columbus, also was a guest.

One new delegate, Jess Dowler, representative from Musicians local union, No. 531, was seated. A call for aid for the striking miners in southern Ohio was received from President Green of the American Federation of Labor, pointing out the need for money and clothing.

The passage of recent labor legislation in congress and the favorable vote of Congressman Grant E. Mouser Jr. was commended. Jobs found for members were reported by several organizations.

Stump, who is now practicing law in Columbus, spoke of his former connections with the labor movement. He called attention to the candidacies of Herman Witter, former mayor of Canton, and Percy Tetlow, who are candidates for congressmen-at-large.

The union will next meet April 13.

CLASSES PLAN FOR ATTENDANCE DRIVE

Preliminary plans for a campaign program in the First United Brethren church from Easter to Pentecost were laid at a meeting last night of the Sunday school officers, teachers and executive committee.

The campaign program will endeavor to bring a 100 per cent attendance of members each Sunday and to stimulate interest in enrolling new members for the classes. Several of the officers are making preparations to open the campaign Sunday in their classes, Rev. Carl V. Roop, pastor, said today.

BOWLERS DON'T LIKE TO USE NEW ALLEYS

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, March 24—Veteran pin toppers prefer to take their shots at the American Bowling Congress prize money after the new alleys have been broken in.

That is the reason why only some 20 per cent of the class A teams booked in the pin classic have performed thus far although the thirty-second renewal of the A. B. C. tourney is now in its third week.

Neither doubles nor singles events were scheduled yesterday. "Jumpin' Barney" Spinella's Recreation Five of Brooklyn could do no better than 2,683. Spinella and Jimmy Smith of Milwaukee are the only men ever to win the all-events title twice and the Brooklyn bowler got a fair start toward another good score with a 597 series on games of 210 and 204.

BIG TEN STAR TO QUIT COMPETITION

By The Associated Press

IOWA CITY, Ia., March 24—Wentworth Lobdell of Rockford, Ill., three times winner of the Big Ten diving championship, today dismissed reluctantly two cherished ambitions—winning the national championship, and a place on the American Olympic team.

He was warned yesterday against entering the national collegiate meet. In addition to a double mastoid operation in 1930, a pulled knee ligament which kept him out of many dual meets last year, and a broken wrist which prevented him from participating in the national collegiate meet in 1931, sinus trouble has periodically interrupted his practice and competition.

Local Concern Gets Order for Arrows from O. W. U

What is perhaps one of the most unusual orders received by local manufacturers for some time is that received by the Howison & Howard, custom furniture shop at 232 south Prospect street. The firm has been commissioned by the Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware to manufacture 360 arrows for use by the women of the university in the annual spring archery tournament

For a number of years, Mr Howard said yesterday, the company has been interested in the manufacture of bows and arrows but the order from the Delaware university was the largest single order they had ever received and required the addition of two men to the force in order to complete the work for delivery next week.

The arrows are made up in groups of three, each group being designated by narrow bands of brightly colored paint.

The same care used in the manufacture of ammunition is used in the manufacture of arrows, Mr Howard said. Douglas fir is used entirely in making the shafts while osage orange is used for both the notch end and head of the arrow

Each arrow is weighed carefully and when completed will not vary more than five or seven grains Each arrow is also tested on an especially built machine for stiffness. This is important it was explained by Mr Howard since the accuracy of the arrow depends upon the resiliency of the shaft

Turkey feathers are used in the tips and each small fan is glued by hand to the shaft after being carefully cut out of perfect feathers over a pattern A sharp steel point which is fitted carefully over the head of the shaft and several coats of shellac and varnish complete the arrow
